Important to Millers & Mill Owners.

THE Undersigned would respectfully inform those engaged in the Milling Business in N. C., that he keeps constantly on hand, and will supply at the shortest notice, that almost invaluable article

YOUNG'S IMPROVED PATENT SMUT AND SCREENING MACHINE.

The only Machine of the kind that has stood the test and given satisfaction to the public. It has surplanted every Smut Machine yet offered in the State, more or less of which has been taken down to make room for it. The public need fear no imposition, as there are now some 280 Machines running in N. C.; and I wish to offer no other references than the gentlemen who are using them, whose expectations have been more than realized in their performance. It not only thoroughly cleanses the Wheat of smut, but also purifies it of all other substances, almost to perfection. It takes up but 4 feet square in the Mill, and requires but little power. It is warranted for five years against breaking or wearing out, and also to retain its cleaning qualities for that time.

There are a number of these Machines through which 100,000 bushels of Wheat have been cleaned, and they have never been out of order one day.

There was awarded to it the Premium at the Maryland State Fair, and a Premium with a Silver Medal, at the Fair of the Maryland Institute, at Baltimore, last Fall.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, Dec. 21st, 1852.

Mr. Joyner offered a resolution authorizing the commissioners of Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road to sell old iron, and for other purposes; which passed three times under a suspension of the rules.

Mr. Washington, from the committee to examine into the condition of the institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind, made an able and satisfactory report, accompanied with a bill for the erection of additional buildings.

A number of engrossed bills were read the first time.

Hour of 12 o'clock having arrived, the Senate proceeded to vote as follows for U. S. Senator:

For Mr Clingman: Messrs. Barrow, Bower, Brogden, Bunting, Caldwell, Cannady, Clark, Collins, Cunningham, Herring, Hoke, Jones of Wake, Kerr, McMillan, Shaw, Speight, Thomas, Ward and Withers.

For Mr. Woodfin: Messrs. Albright, Albritton, Arendell, Gilmer, T. F. Jones, Joyner, Kelly, Lillington, Lane, McCleese, Mitchell, Murray, Palmer, Parks, Richardson, Thompson, Washington and Willey.

Mr. Speaker voted for Mr. Strange, Mr. Bynum voted for Mr. A. Shepard.

For Mr. Ruffin: Messrs. Berry, Boyd, Person and Watson.

Mr. Hargrave voted for Burton Craige.

Message received from the House, proposing to vote again, forthwith, for U. S. Senator. Vote for Mr. Clingman same, with the exception that Messrs. Person and Berry voted for Mr. C. and Mr. McMillan for Mr. Dobbin.

Vote for Mr. Woodfin same.

EVENING SESSION, 3½ O'CLOCK.

A messsge was received from the House of Commons, proposing to vote forthwith for seven Councillors of State. [See House proceedings for result.]

The bill for the re-districting the State, was taken up.

Mr. Thompson moved to amend by striking out the entire bill, and inserting a plan drawn up by himself.

On motion, the bill and amendments were laid on the table.

Mr. Bower offered a resolution to rescind the joint resolution to adjourn on to-morrow.

Mr. Lillington moved to amend by adding, and adjourn on Monday next.

He supported his proposition—he was not willing to adjourn and leave the public business unfinished.

Mr. Clark said he must support the resolution to rescind; the amount of business was great, yet, and it was unjust to the people of the State, to go away and leave the business unfinished. He could not conceive how Senators could face their constituents if they refused to rescind.

Mr. Thompson said he could face the responsibility—he believed the Senate had done their duty in the premises—they were not to blame—the other House was responsible—the Senate had sent them a respectful proposition to rescind, and appointing the 24th to adjourn, and it had been treated with contempt. He was opposed to entertaining any such proposition until the House could be heard from.

Mr. Caldwell asked Mr. Thompson, if he was in favor of rescinding at all?

Mr. Thompson replied, in substance, that until the proposition already sent to the House was heard from he was opposed to sending another messsage.

Mr. Kelly said he would vote no such proposition; this is what he had predicted some time ago; he was willing to vote for a resolution to rescind, without fixing another day for the adjournment, and he was willing to do the public business, and go home as soon as possible.

The hour having arrived, the Senate took a recess to 7½.

NIGHT SESSION—7½ o'clock.

A number of bills were read second and third times; titles of which will appear in the printed captions, if passed into laws.

The suspended business was resumed and Mr. Puryear's amendment was further discussed.

On motion of Mr. Love a message was sent to the Senate proposing to vote forthwith for U. S. Senator, which was concurred in and the House again proceeded to Vote for Senator.

The whole number of votes cast was 142. Necessary to a choice 72. Mr. Woodfin received 68; Mr. Clingman 61; scattering 13. No election.

Mr. Turner, of Orange, introduced a bill to repeal an act concerning the revenue.

Mr. Puryear a bill to amend the act incorporating the Salisbury and Taylorsville plankroad company.

NIGHT SESSION—7 o'clock.

A number of engrossed bills read third time.

Bill to apportion members for the House of Commons.

Mr. Martin moved to strike out the original bill and insert one he offered as an amendment, giving Chatham two members instead of three, and Franklin two instead of one; which did not prevail—yeas 8, nays 74. The bill then passed.

A motion to reconsider the vote by which the homestead bill was rejected was laid on the table.

Mr. Cherry offered a resolution requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to endeavor to obtain an appropriation for the erection of a marine hospital in Wilmington. Adopted.

The House adjourned.

[A number of bills, engrossed and otherwise, read on last days of session, which we have not space to mention. The captions in this and next paper will show which of them were passed into laws.]

The resolution, as amended, was adopted.

Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 22, 1852.

A message was received from the Senate proposing to rescind the joint order to adjourn this day and to adjourn on the 24th, which was laid on the table and made the special order for 7½ o'clock this evening.

The unfinished business was taken up, being the bill to lay off the Senatorial districts—Mr. Dargan's amendment pending.

Mr. Love moved to lay the bill and amendment on the table in order to enable him to move to send a message to the Senate to go into an election of U. S. Senator.

Mr. Avery announced that the select committee to which was referred the bill for laying off the Senatorial districts had agreed upon a plan; which he reported.

A message was received from the Senate agreeing to vote forthwith for councillors of State, and the following gentlemen were elected, viz: Whitmell Stallings, Wm. K. Lane, Perrin Busbee, Wilson S. Hill, R. S. French, Archibald Henderson and Columbus Mills.

And the House took a recess.

NIGHT SESSION—7 o'clock.

The unfinished business was resumed, the question being upon the amendments proposed by the committee to the bill for laying off the Senatorial districts.

Mr. Fagg being entitled to the floor, proceeded to address the House, and appealed to his Whig friends to resist the effort to rescind the resolution to adjourn until 12 o'clock, declaring that he had rather there should not be another Senate in North Carolina in twenty years than that the present bill should pass.

Mr. Mooring moved to lay the bill and amendment on the table in order to take up the proposition from the Senate to rescind the resolution to adjourn.

Mr. Caldwell, of Guilford, opposed the motion to lay on the table, and spoke until called to order.

Mr. Saunders, of Wake, spoke in a conciliatory manner, saying he had come to the House contrary to the express directions of his physician, in order to try to throw oil over the troubled waters; and declared that adjournment before the State was redistricted would be a virtual dissolution of the government.

Mr. Cherry said he would make a proposition: That the Whigs were willing to take the bill offered a few days ago by Mr. McIntyre, with the amendment offered by Mr. Puryear; and enquired if the Democrats would accept it. [A voice of "No" was heard.] Then, said he, this House will adjourn at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Dargan followed, scouting the idea of Constitutional disability to adjourn, as the Constitution did not require impossibilities. He declared that the only correct way of arriving at the political complexion of the State in laying off the Senatorial districts was by reference to the past senatorial vote.

Mr. George enquired why then did the Whigs contend for an equal number of senators, since the Democrats now had six majority.

A message was received from the Senate amending their former resolutions and fixing the time for adjournment on the 27th instant.

Mr. Dortch moved to lay the business under consideration upon the table in order to take up and consider the message from the Senate.

Mr. Cherry moved that there be a call of the House, and upon that motion the yeas and nays were taken, and it was decided in the negative—yeas 34, nays 61—the Whigs generally voting yea and the Democrats nay.

Mr. Fagg then moved that the House do now adjourn, and demanded the yeas and nays, and the House refused to adjourn—yeas 6, nays 86.

The question occurring upon Mr. Dortch's motion to lay upon the table,

Mr. Miller, of Caldwell, spoke against it; declaring that if the bill could not pass before midnight he was in favor of adjourning and going home. He demanded the yeas and nays.

Mr. Smith, of Halifax, with the general consent of the House, read a plan which he had prepared, and which he contended gave the Whigs 23 districts and the Democrats 23, leaving 4 doubtful.

The motion to lay upon the table prevailed—yeas 50, nays 43. The Democrats voted yea, and all the nays were whigs.

Mr. Leach said the session was drawing to a close, and a judge should be elected; he therefore moved to send a message to the Senate proposing to vote forthwith for a judge of the 7th circuit, and demanded the yeas and nays. The motion did not prevail—yeas 47, nays 49.

Mr. Cherry moved to take up the bill to lay off the Senatorial districts; and again appealed to the Whigs to stand firm, resist the bill, and adjourn the Legislature; declaring that he would move to adjourn, call the yeas and nays, and resort to all parliamentary usages in his power to stave off the question until midnight. He spoke fifteen minutes, the time allowed him, and was followed by

Mr. Caldwell, of Guilford, who spoke in favor of taking up the bill in order that Mr. Smith might submit his plan. He declared that rather than see the bill passed he would force an adjournment.

Mr. Wynne obtained the floor, and declared his voice was not for war, but for peace. He believed there was enough of patriotism and of the spirit of compromise to settle the matter.

Mr. Philips said it might be expected that he had risen to make a personal explanation; but it was not so; neither had he one word of the report he had concurred in to retract. As for the banner under which Whigs were here rallying he would say no such banner waved over him. He was a whig, but not a disorganizer. The course of Whigs here to night was calculated to dissolve the Whig party. This House could not adjourn—it must remain in session until the business made imperative by the Constitution is completed. God forbid that he should carry his partizan feelings to the extent of disorganization.

Mr. Saunders declared that the House could not adjourn. Twelve o'clock might come and pass and he would remain here; and if the Speaker now in the chair left it, another would be put in it, and the business would go on.

The Speaker said he wished to state what he conceived to be his duty before the debate proceeded further: If the joint order for an adjournment was not rescinded he should adjourn the House at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Dobbin spoke next, and appealed to the patriotism of the House to rescind the order for adjournment; and enumerated same of the ruinous consequences of an adjournment at this time. He alluded to the threats made by certain gentlemen, and enquired of them if they could expect any concession under menaces. He again appealed to the patriotism of the House not to permit a revolutionary state of affairs.

Mr. Dargan declared that there was no power to elect a new Speaker and go on with the business, and hoped his Whig friends would not be alarmed. He was not afraid to assume the responsibility of an adjournment.

Mr. Holeman said there might be fighting under this banner and that, but he was fighting under his own banner; and if, like Sampson with the Philistines, the temple was pulled down he would go down with the rest. Like Jonah among the Ninevites he should sit quietly by and see what was to be the end.

Mr. Fagg spoke for fifteen minutes.

Mr. Turner, of Orange, appealed to members to reflect how far party spirit had driven them from the proper course. He said it with shame that he could see but little of the spirit of patriotism here—the spirit of party was predominant. He had not taken part with his friends, and should not do so, to stave off the question by any manoeuvring until an adjournment was effected. He hoped his Whig friends would not adjourn the House to-night.

Mr. Blow said there had been a mystery hanging over the nations of the earth for many years—a mystery which was embraced in the question, Who struck Billy Patterson? He feared the House was about to solve the mystery by deciding that it was Billy Patterson who struck himself. From the crowd in the lobbies and the gallery it might be supposed there was some excitement here. It was not so. The House seemed to be in articulo mortis. Both Whigs and Democrats wanted advantages; but as for himself, a member of the great Independent Democratic Republican State Rights' Whig party, he only wanted what was fair. He was in favor of rescinding the resolution to adjourn and taking up the bill and having a consultation, and he believed the nation could yet be saved.

Mr. Puryear offered a resolution proposing to send a message to the Senate to rescind the resolution to adjourn to-day, provided it would agree to adjourn to-morrow at 12 o'clock.

The Speaker said he had witnessed with pain the course of his Whig friends here to-night, and was convinced they were wrong. The resolution offered by Mr. Puryear was not in order, but in this crisis he would assume the responsibility of violating the rules of order and submitting the resolution to the House.

[Mr. Cherry had previously refused to withdraw his motion to take the bill from the table.]

The resolution was adopted—years 74, nays 18, and the Senate concurred.

The question occurring upon taking up the bill the vote was—yeas 36, nays 51.

A motion to adjourn was lost—yeas 38, nays 44.

Mr. Strange moved to send a message to the Senate proposing to rescind the order to adjourn at 12 o'clock to-morrow.

A motion to adjourn prevailed.

SENATE.

THURSDAY, Dec. 23, 1852.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

THURSDAY, Dec. 23d, 1852.

The unfinished business was taken up, being the motion to send a message to the Senate proposing to rescind the joint order to adjourn to-day at 12 o'clock.

By resolution the House determined to take up the Senatorial district bill and consider it until 11½ o'clock.

Mr. Saunders, of Wake, offered an amendment to the amendment reported by the committee; which was rejected.

Mr. Saunders then offered another amendment; which was adopted—yeas 58, nays 33; and the bill passed its second reading—yeas 57, nays 34.

Mr. Cotten moved to suspend the rules in order to put the bill on its third reading; and the Speaker decided that the resolution already adopted suspended the rules until 11½ o'clock.

From this decision Mr. Reid, of Duplin, appealed.

Mr. Long, of Randolph, said that unless the bill passed its 3d reading there could be no vote taken upon rescinding the resolution to adjourn.

Pending the question the hour of 11½ o'clock arrived; Mr. Strange withdrew his motion to send a message to the Senate proposing to rescind the order for an adjournment, and the Speaker submitted a message from the Senate proposing to rescind the order to adjourn to-day, and to adjourn on Monday next.

Mr. Fagg took the floor and spoke until interrupted by the Speaker, who announced that he should put the question, which he did, and the message was concurred in—yeas 81, nays 16.

Those who voted against rescinding are—Messrs. Albertson, Alford, Caldwell of Guilford, Carmichael, Cherry, Daniel, Dargan, Erwin, Eure, Fagg, Leach, Miller, Puryear, Shimpock, Tripp and Williams of Greene—16.

The Speaker then announced that he returned to the House the power conferred upon him as Speaker, to take effect from and after 10 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. Cherry rose to make a personal explanation: He had acted in accordance with the advice of the Speaker himself, who had declared he would take the responsibility of adjourning the House rather than see the bill reported by the committee adopted. He was willing to share the responsibility of what had occurred, but the Speaker was equally responsible. If, when the crisis arrived, there had been any backing out, it was not chargeable to him.

The Speaker also made an explanation, expressing his willingness to share the responsibility and regretting that he had pursued the course he had; that he had not duly reflected upon the consequences. He had seen a disposition on the part of the Democrats to act fairly and to bring about a compromise, while a few of his own party friends had continued the struggle. [The Speaker spoke with much emotion, and was affected even to tears.]

As soon as order could be restored Mr. Puryear took the chair, the rules were suspended, and the bill for laying off the Senatorial districts passed its 3d reading.

The rest of the day was spent in the consideration of bills on their 2nd reading, reports of committees, &c.

The House then adjourned.

SENATE.

Mr. Withers moved they be indefinitely postponed. Motion did not prevail.

Senate then took a recess.

EVENING SESSION—3½ o'clock.

The bill to lay off 50 Senatorial Districts was taken up.

On motion of Mr. Caldwell the vote by which Mr. Boyd's amendment was adopted was reconsidered and rejected.

Mr. Berry moved to amend by striking out the entire bill and substituting therefor a plan which he presented. Not agreed to.

Bill then passed its second reading without any amendment, and the rules being suspended the bill passed its third reading.

Mr. Berry submitted several amendments to detach Alamance from Randolph, all of which were rejected.

LAST DAYS OF THE SESSION.

The Legislature of this State adjourned on Monday night last, after a session of 85 days. Acts have been passed laying off the Congressional and Senatorial Districts and apportioning the members of the House of Commons; and we refer our readers, for a synopsis of those acts, to another column of to-day's paper.

No Senator was elected. This is to be regretted, but, under the circumstances, the failure to elect is deemed unavoidable. The Democratic party, it was thought, had a majority on joint ballot; but events have shown that this majority, if indeed it existed, was not available. We do not propose to-day, in the bustle and excitement incident to the adjournment, to go fully into this matter; but we may say that the Democratic nominee, the Hon. James C. Dobbin, can have nothing to regret so far as his own conduct is concerned. He has borne himself throughout the whole crisis in a manner which has commanded the respect of his political opponents, and at the same time endeared him still more to his friends.

Towards the close of the session the Democratic party rallied in good faith around the Hon. Thomas L. Clingman, and sought to elect him; but a Western man was brought forward against him, and, under the circumstances, after several efforts to elect him, and owing to the disorganized condition of the Democratic party, it was considered imprudent by many of his supporters of that party to press the voting farther. Besides, the two Houses were quite thin, many of the members having left for their homes; and indeed, as the votes on propositions to go into the election will show, both parties seemed to fear, at this crisis of the contest, a continuation of the voting for Senator.

We shall take occasion hereafter to submit some remarks and calculations in relation to the new Congressional Districts; but we propose to call the attention of our readers now to the Senatorial Districts, and to the extraordinary action of the Whig portion of the House of Commons on the occasion of the passage of the Senatorial District bill through that body.

By the Constitution of the State it is made the duty of the General Assembly, "at its first session after the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one," to lay off the Senatorial Districts, and apportion the members of the House of Commons. The Constitution is imperative on this point—it says this "shall" be done at the time above designated. At an early period of the session Committees were appointed on the Senatorial Districts, and Reports were in due time submitted by those Committees. In the House, Mr. Reid, of Duplin, (Democrat) reported a plan on behalf of one part of the Committee, and Mr. McIntyre, of Richmond, (Whig) on behalf of the other; and, after some discussion, the House, composed of a majority of Whigs, voted down Mr. McIntyre's plan, which vote was justly regarded as indicating an approval of Mr. Reid's plan. The two Houses, being unable to agree, appointed a Committee of Conference consisting of two on the part of each House; and this Committee, after some time spent in examining the matter of the Senatorial Districts, reported that they could not agree. The discussion was again opened, and continued for a day or two, and several amendments were made, in the House, to Mr. Reid's plan. The 44th, Mr. Bower's District, was changed by adding Wilkes and striking off another county, so as to make it decidedly Whig—Union was taken from Anson and joined to Cabarrus, so as to make it, as the Whigs alleged, a Democratic District, and Washington was added to Martin. At this point in the discussion another Committee was proposed on the part of the House, to whom the whole matter should be referred; and Mr. Avery, of Burke, Democrat, and Mr. Philips, of Orange, Whig, were appointed by the Speaker as this Committee. This arrangement appeared to give satisfaction to the Whig members; and one of them, Mr. Puryear, of Yadkin, stated in his place that, such was his anxiety to settle the matter in a spirit of compromise, he was willing to support whatever plan this Committee might recommend. This was on Wednesday the 22d, the day fixed upon by both Houses for adjourning sine die. Messrs. Avery and Philips met. They struck out the amendment as to Col. Bower's District, putting Watauga to the District and leaving out Wilkes; they also put Union with Anson, concurred as to Washington and Martin, and took Madison from the 49th and added it to the 50th District. They returned to the House in the course of an hour or two, and through Mr. Avery made their report. Mr. Avery explained the changes which the Committee recommended, and the report was made the special order for seven o'clock at night. This report on the part of this Committee assigned to the Democrats 22 Districts, and to the Whigs 22, and left six Districts in doubt.

As soon as the House assembled at seven o'clock the discussion was commenced by Whig leaders. They offered no arguments against the plan, but indulged in general declamation, declaring that the bill, as reported, should not pass—that they would speak until midnight to prevent it, and thus adjourn the House sine die! Messrs Fagg, Cherry, Dargan, Miller, and Caldwell of Guilford, occupied the floor in turn, avowing it as their purpose to have a bill which would give more Districts to the Whigs or force an adjournment. As the hour of twelve approached, the excitement became intense. The lobbies were crowded with citizens mortified and indignant at the spectacle presented. Gen. Saunders spoke briefly in a conciliatory tone; Mr. Philips, Whig, rose and declared that he adhered to the report, and that he could not go with his party friends in their disorganizing and revolutionary movement; and Mr. Dobbin appealed to the House in thrilling tones to rescind the order for adjournment, and thus prevent the state of disorganization on which the government was rapidly rushing. He alluded to a period during the war with Great Britain, when a measure was pending involving the character of the country, and when Henry Clay, in doubt as to the result of the vote, suddenly appeared in the midst of the members holding his watch in his hand, and exclaiming "I count the minutes which my country's honor has to live!"—and he called upon members to bear in mind that a similar crisis was upon us—that the minutes might be counted during which the State government was to go forward in its accustomed path, or go down in confusion and revolution. At this point, about half past eleven o'clock, Mr. Puryear offered a Resolution proposing to send a message to the Senate to rescind the joint agreement to adjourn at twelve o'clock; and Mr. Speaker Baxter entertained the Resolution and put the question on it, in violation, as he stated, of the rules of order. He bore testimony, at the same time, to the disposition evinced on the part of the Democrats to act in a spirit of justice on the subject of the Senatorial Districts, and said he was pained at the conduct of his Whig friends. The Resolution was adopted, the Senate concurred, the hour for adjournment sine die was fixed at twelve o'clock on Thursday, the next day; and soon after the two Houses adjourned.

On Thursday the struggle was renewed. The bill was amended, by which the Whigs gained, and having been read the second time, the revolutionary leaders insisted that the rules should be suspended so as to give it a third reading before twelve o'clock. They threatened again and again to dissolve the government if the House should refuse to yield to their demands; and within about ten minutes of twelve o'clock, a message was received from the Senate proposing to rescind the joint order to adjourn at that hour, and fixing Monday the 27th as the day for adjourning. Here again Mr. Speaker Baxter interposed. He entertained the message, and put the question on it in violation of the rules of order. The House concurred in the Senate's proposition, and the revolution was averted.

Mr. Speaker Baxter then asked to be heard. He stated that he had witnessed the recent struggle with pain—that he had sympathized with his Whig friends in their efforts to obtain justice from their political opponents; but, having seen a disposition on the part of Democratic members to do justice, he had taken upon himself the authority to violate the rules of the House with the view of preventing a dissolution of the government. He concluded by resigning his place as Speaker, and by calling Mr. Puryear to the Chair. He did this, he said, out of respect to his political friends who had placed him in the Chair, and against whose course he had just been compelled, by a sense of duty, to take such decided action. Mr. Cherry here rose and declared that he had been advised to the course he had pursued by the Speaker, among others; that the Speaker had urged him to stand forward as he had done; and Mr. Miller, of Caldwell, said the same in substance.

On Friday morning Mr. Baxter was re-elected Speaker, all the Whigs and several Democrats voting for him. The Democrats generally voted for Mr. Avery, of Burke. On resuming the Chair Mr. Baxter delivered an address, in the course of which he said that several Democrats had urged him to arrest the movements of those who were about to produce a revolution, and had declared to him that they would stand by him at all hazards; and he complained that some of these Democrats had voted against him. It is doubtless true that Democrats did urge him to arrest the revolution, and did promise to stand by him in the course he pursued; but they did not know, at that time, that Mr. Baxter was a party to the revolutionary movement. They thus urged him, and thus pledged themselves before Mr. Cherry spoke on Thursday; but after what Mr. Cherry had said, though they respected Mr. Baxter for what he did when the House was about to be adjourned by the violent and factious conduct of his party, still they could not support him for re-election as Speaker, because in so doing they considered they might be held responsible as endorsers of his conduct in this matter from first to last. This is the reason why Mr. Baxter was not unanimously re-elected. If he had resisted in the outset the revolutionary action of his party, and had proved true at first, as he did in the end, to law and order, no voice would have been raised against him; but, as it was, he could not reasonably expect that his political opponents would vote, as a party, to reinstate him.

And now, what will the honest, law-abiding people of North Carolina say to these things? If that Legislature had adjourned sine die without laying off the Senatorial Districts, the government would have been dissolved, for the simple reason that, according to the Constitution, the Senatorial Districts cannot be laid off at the second session after 1851. What then? Why, a Convention would have been the inevitable result. The Governor would have re-assembled the Legislature—that body would have found itself powerless in relation to the Senatorial Districts, and the two Houses would have authorized a free Convention! A new Constitution would have been the result, and all this brought about by party spirit and a desire among a few Whig leaders for party advancement and party honors! The sum and substance of what these Whig revolutionists demanded was this: Give us just what we want—give us the Senatorial Districts to suit us—give them to us now, or we will break up this government and precipitate all interests into the vortex of revolution! The wheels of government rushed upon the verge of chaos; and while members of both parties wept over a condition of things they could not change, these unscrupulous leaders were thinking only of party, and of the advantages to be gained at the expense of their political opponents. We saw members of the House of both parties—strong-minded, sensible men—shedding tears over the conduct of their brother members, and deploring the awful condition into which the State was about to be plunged; yet the work of faction and mad party spirit went on, and but for the firmness of the Speaker, in opposition to the wishes of his party friends, this State would now have been without a Legislature, afloat upon the sea of change, uncertainty and revolution!

We shall go more fully into this matter hereafter, as we are determined that all the facts connected with this rash and violent movement on the part of the Whig leaders shall be spread before our readers.

See proceedings.

INAUGURATION OF GOV. REID.

On Wednesday last, the 22d December, His Excellency David S. Reid, was inaugurated in presence of both Houses of the General Assembly as Governor of the State for the next two years. The oaths of office were administered by Wesley Jones, Esq., a Justice of the Peace for this County.

Gov. Reid delivered upon the occasion the following brief but appropriate address:

Senators and Members of the House of Commons:

Profoundly grateful for the approval of my administration in being again called to the Executive Chair of North Carolina, I shall enter upon a second term with the earnest invocation to the Great Ruler of the Universe to enable me to discharge the duties of the office with prudence and justice, and in an acceptable manner to the people of the State.

The principles avowed in my last Inaugural Address will govern my administration during the ensuing term. They are too well known to require repetition on this occasion.

The extension of the right of suffrage is a great question of popular right, founded upon the immutable principles of truth and justice, and is demanded by the voice of the people. This reform is essential to the preservation of the blessings of liberty, and I shall continue earnestly to urge its consummation.

Keeping constantly in view the fact that the place I occupy was bestowed for public convenience, it will afford me pleasure to co-operate with the Legislature and the people in all measures calculated to promote the cause of Education—to justly distribute the benefits and burdens of government—and to advance the Agricultural and other great interests of the State, to the end that industry and enterprise may be properly rewarded, and the people become more free, prosperous and happy.

THE MAILS.

An inflexible necessity compels us to call upon Postmasters in Western North Carolina to be more punctual and attentive to their duties. Loud complaints from our patrons have for a long time reached our ears, alleging that they could never get our paper.

We were informed a few days since that some of our friends in the mountains had thought that their subscription year was out, because the paper had stopped going to them, and that we did not intend to send it to them another year. We have also been in the Post Office in this place several times recently, and saw with our own eyes packages of the North Carolina Whig which we had sent off to our patrons abroad, return and opened in the Mail here. We do not wish to lay blame at any man's door, but there is certainly a great degree of neglect generally throughout the country on the part of the Postmasters. We can assure our patrons everywhere, that we have never yet failed to send them our paper once every week. That we have generally issued on Wednesday the regular day, except when unavoidable accident prevented us. We would take this occasion to say to Whig Postmasters that the remainder of their terms of office is fast hastening to a close, and that for the sake of the character of the Whig party, they should discharge their duties well and faithfully for the remainder of their terms, and leave their offices clean and in good order for the reception of their successors. Remember that the character of Mr. Fillmore's administration is at stake, and that the country is looking forward to him as the beacon light of its hopes in 1856. Charlotte Whig.

The foregoing is from a Whig paper. The Editor has been compelled to open on his party friends, so frequent and palpable have been the instances of neglect and inattention on the part of Postmasters. We get letters every day or so complaining that our paper does not reach the offices in time, or that it has failed entirely of its destination; and all that we can say in reply is that we regret it—the fault is not here, and our subscribers must bear it as well as they can until a change can be effected in the Postoffices. That change will be effected soon after President Pierce goes into office, and we may then hope for a better condition of things in this respect.

MR. RAYNER.

Mr. Stanly's organ, the North State Whig, takes the following notice of the extraordinary "procedure" of running Mr. Rayner for the Senate:

"In publishing the letter of Henry W. Miller, Esq., to the Raleigh Register, it is proper and fit, we think, that we should say that since it was known here that Mr. Rayner was the Whig caucus nominee for U. S. Senator, we have not heard a Whig speak of the procedure except with mortification and astonishment—and we have taken some pains to ascertain what our friends thought of it. When it is remembered that all the troubles which the Whig party have been laboring under for four years were brought upon them by the extraordinary course of Mr. Rayner in the State convention of 1848, and that in the late Presidential campaign he not only did not move a finger to secure the State to Scott and Graham, but in more ways than one gave "aid and comfort to the enemy," is it surprising that his nomination to the highest office and honor in the bestowal of the Whig party should cause those who have ever been faithful and true, to express their opinion that such a proceeding is neither advantageous nor creditable to the Whig party?"

It is generally understood about here that Messrs. Stanly and Badger were opposed to Mr. Rayner's election. The result of the late contest may at least teach Mr. Rayner the importance of being one thing or another in politics.

☞ On Wednesday last the following gentlemen were elected by the Legislature Councillors of State for the next two years: Whitmell Stallings, of Gates; William K. Lane, of Wayne; Perrin Busbee, of Wake; Wilson S. Hill, of Guilford; R. S. French, of Robeson; Archibald Henderson, of Rowan; and Columbus Mills, of Rutherford—all Democrats.

☞ On Saturday last, as will be seen by our legislative proceedings, Gen. R. M. Saunders was elected a Judge of the Superior Courts of Law and Equity for this, the 3d Judicial Circuit, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the election of Judge Battle as a Judge of the Supreme Court.

FUNNY. The Baltimore Sun sums up legislative news from North Carolina as follows: "A memorial in favor of the Maine law, signed by 15,000 persons, has been presented to the N. C. Legislature, which body has rejected the homestead bill."

☞ Vice President King, it is said, has so far recovered that he no longer requires the attendance of a physician, and it is confidently hoped that he may soon appear in the Senate chamber.

For the Standard.

Be it remembered that heretotore, to wit, on the 2nd day of November, A. D., 1852, an election was held for President and Vice President of the United States of America, and whereas, it has been fully ascertained that the Hon. Franklin Pierce and Mr. King have been almost unanimously elected. Now, therefore, be it known that owing to the recent misfortune, growing out of causes generally known, it is deemed proper and expedient that the whig party of the United States be dissolved. All persons having any assets will please report them to Governor Seward and the Hon. Horace Greeley, who are regularly appointed by the late Baltimore Convention to manage the affairs of the concern.

Prompt attention is required, as the wounded and slain should be placed on the pension list; besides many who, after having sacrificed years of toil, looking forward to the recompense of reward, must now die before the haven is reached. All contested claims will be presented to Joel G. Sever, who is appointed counsel in all cases where the party is concerned. Vermont, Massachusetts, Kentucky and Tennessee surrender all claims to any of the assets, not believing themselves worthy, and having resources plenty for their own sick.

A WOUNDED WHIG OF GASTON, N. C.

DREADFUL AFFAIR AT PETERSBURG VA. Benjamin Sadler, confined in jail at Petersburg, Va., on the charge of kidnapping, together with another prisoner, named Jones, made their escape on Sunday morning, the 19th inst., about 10 o'clock, under the following circumstances:

Robert Taylor and George Williams, keepers of the jail, went into Sadler's cell to serve breakfast to the prisoners, when Sadler and Jones rushed out and locked them in. While on their way out, they were met by Mr. Joel Sturdivant, who ordered them to stop, when Sadler drew a revolver and shot him dead on the spot. A negro man, an attendent at the jail, attempted to arrest them, when he received the contents of one of the barrels in his chin, wounding him mortally, it is supposed.

Immediately after their escape had been made known, a large number of citizens started in pursuit of the fugitives. Jones was arrested about half a mile from the city. Sadler had proceeded about three miles when he was overtaken by Messrs Ledbetter and Bottwell, who came upon him suddenly in an open field, making his way for the woods. When ordered to surrender he refused, and deliberately drew his revolver and shot himself dead. The tragedy created the greatest excitement.

DISTRESSING OCCURRENCE. It is with feelings of the deepest sorrow that we have to record a most melancholy occurrence. The boiler of the Steam Saw Mill at Waynesborough, the property of Mr. Jesse Pipkin, exploded yesterday morning about 7½ o'clock, killing three white men and two negroes. Mr. Pipkin, the proprietor, was killed, and a Mr. Thomas Gardner and William Jones. The two negroes belonged to Mr. Pipkin. Two other negroes were badly wounded, one a free boy, and the other the property of Mrs. Churchill, of Waynesborough. Defects of the boiler is attributed as the cause of the explosion.

Mr. Pipkin leaves a widow and three children to mourn their irreparable loss.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Gardner have each left a family in almost destitute circumstances.

LARGE HOGS. By a letter from Berlin, in Worcester county, of this State, we learn that Mr. R. J. Henry, of that place, killed on Monday week last, six superior hogs, of his own raising, and which had attracted a great deal of attention among the farmers in that section. They weighed as follows: 448, 480, 500, 552, 556, and 588—total, 3,124 lbs., averaging 520½ lbs. They lacked two days of being twenty-two months old, and were one litter of pigs, all perfectly white. Mr. H. has four shoats, which, for their ages, are even better than these.

Baltimore Sun.

The Cholera is reported to be raging at Apalachicola, Fla., and it is said that in less than ten days no less than 75 deaths occurred. This, for so small a place, is a startling mortality. The disorder is attributed to a disease of the oysters, caused by the large and unusual quantity of fresh water poured into the bay by the recent freshet. Among the victims is Prof. McCay, of the University of Georgia, who was there on a visit.

NEW ORLEANS, December 23. Sales yesterday of 5,000 bales of cotton at ¼ cent decline. Dealers are awaiting foreign news. Middling Orleans 8½ a 8¾ cents. Sales of 1,000 bbls. mess pork at $17. Sales of 500 bbls. and kegs of lard at 11 cents for the former and 12½ cents for the latter. Orleans molasses 22 cents. Rio coffee 9 cents. Freights unsettled—on cotton to Liverpool ⅝d. Sterling change 8½ premium.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. Business to-day is without much activity. People are much engaged preparing for the Christmas holidays.

No tidings yet of either of the European steamers now due. Merchants are not much disposed to operate until they receive the news.

Mr. Edney, of North Carolina, has resigned the commission as Charge d'Affaires to Gautemala which he received after the Baltimore Convention, first drawing the outfit in consideration of services intended to be rendered. Norfolk Beacon.

MARRIED,

In this City, on the 20th inst., by O. L. Burch, Esq., Mr. John Q. W. Faucett, of Alamance County, to Miss Eliza M. Williams, of this City.

Quinton Utley's Tooth-Ache Drops.

FOR THE CURE O. THE TOOTHACHE

One of the Greatest Discoveries of the 19th (entury!

FROM the numerous applications I have had for the above preparation, for the last few months, the uniform success which has attended its use, its salutary effects, its power to give immediate relief in the severest cases of Toothache, I have been induced to offer it those who may be afflicted; with the utmost confidence in its virtue, and the full belief that it will subdue and give entire relief to the severest toothache without the slightest injury to the tooth. I have got (and can get,) numerous testimonials of its efficacy—some from distinguished gentlemen, and all from as reliable persons as are in the State, a publication of which I deem unnecessary at this time, as one of these Drops when tried in an aching tooth will be worth more to the manufacturer and the patient, than all the certificates from great men that could be procured.

The preparation is known only to myself. Every phial is carefully put up by my own hands in the City of Raleigh and labelled with directions for use, and may be found at IRA BECKWITH'S Store, on Fayetteville St. a few doors North of the Yarbrough House, and opposite Lawrence's Hotel, where it will be constantly kept for sale either by the wholesale or retail. Also for sale by the retail at Jone's Drug Store, Sycamore street, Petersburg, Va., and at Andrew Bett's Store, Wake County, N. C. Retail price 50 cts per Bottle—liberal deduction made when taken by the quantity.

To all who may have the toothache—try it, and then it will need no puffing.

All orders from a distance promptly attended to by Mr. Beckwith or myself.

QUINTON UTLEY.

NOVELTY WORKS,

WEST ST., RALEIGH, NORTH-CAROLINA,

SILAS BURNS. PROPRIETOR,

BUILDER OF

Steam Engines & General Machinist.

THE above establishment has been in successful operation about one year, and has turned out some of the best STEAM ENGINES and SAW MILLS that have ever operated in this or any other State.

Orders are solicited for Steam Engines and Saw Mills, Mill Gearing and Machinery of every discription to be completed during the Summer and Fall. The improved condition of the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road will enable me to fill with dispatch and punctuality all orders after the 1st of July.

The following certificate will show the character of the work executed at the above Works:

AUBRY, Cumberland, May 15, 1852.

Mr. SILAS BURNS,

Dear Sir: Our Engine and Mills, made at your shops, have been at work nearly two months, and fully meet our expectations. The ENGINE, as to FINISH and STRENGTH, PERFORMANCE and DURABILITY, is inferior to none in the State of the same class made here or elsewhere. The MILLS run with a smoothness and speed truly astonishing. In ordinary sawing we cut in a common sized log, 1 foot in 3½ seconds or 16 feet per minute. We have run, however, through an 18 feet log in 32 seconds or at the rate of 33 feet per minute, by running to the top speed we fully believe we can cut 40 feet per minute. The only objection we have heard urged is, it takes two many hands to haul up logs and carry away lumber. Yours, &c.,

JONES & BARBEE.

"Eagle Hotel," Chapel Hill, for Sale

THE Proprietress of this well known and profitable establishment, having realized a sufficient income to warrant her in resuming the quiet of a private life, offers to the public generally the opportunity of bidding for its advantages.

The citizens of the State are so well acquainted with the advantages of its position, that but few remarks are necessary to complete their information.

The Hotel itself possesses all the requirments of room and comfort, which its purchasers can desire. It has capacity for the accommodation of one hundred and fifty boarders, and the recent and rapid growth of the University, adjacent, makes it an easy matter to possess such or even a greater number of students.

In addition to this, the frequent travel through Chapel Hill gives the Hotel, (being the only one in the place) a transient custom equal to any in the State.

The lots and stables adjoining are extensive and commodious, and the country-market supplies abundantly and on profitable terms much of its provisions.

The terms of sale require one third of the price to be paid on taking possession. A note, with safe security and time of payment suited to the convenience of the purchaser, are the reasonable demands for the remainder.

If further information be desired concerning the inducements to purchase, the President of the University or any other resident of the village, will furnish it.

Possession can be obtained at any time, after the 1st of May. Apply to ANNE S. HILLIARD.

Extract from George Bancroft, Historian of the United States:

"There are many separate pieces of information and valuable documents, which of themselves are worth the price of this work; which can be found no where else."
